Dealing with physical or mental health issues that affect academic performance.	The mentor facilitates discussions about prioritizing health, suggesting visits to the campus health center and assisting in communicating with professors about health-related challenges. They actively engage in exploring accommodations and connect the student with campus resources, ensuring ongoing support for their well-being.
Difficulty managing time effectively, leading to missed deadlines and overwhelming workloads.	Work collaboratively with the student to create a detailed weekly schedule, providing guidance on prioritizing tasks and setting realistic goals. The mentor can periodically check in with the student to review and adjust the schedule as needed, offering support and accountability.
Facing challenges in understanding course material or keeping up with assignments.	The mentor can suggest study techniques, recommend additional resources, and facilitate connections with tutoring services or study groups. Actively encourage the student to attend office hours and offer to attend with them if needed, providing a supportive environment for discussing challenges with the professor.
Feeling overwhelmed and stressed about academic and personal responsibilities.	Mentorship involves discussing stress management techniques, providing resources on mindfulness and self-care, and encouraging regular check-ins. The mentor can help the student explore counseling services on campus, offering guidance on how to initiate the process and providing ongoing emotional support.

Issues Raised	Suggestions Given
The student struggles with networking and building professional connections, hindering their career development.	Mentor the student in networking strategies, including informational interviews, networking events, and online platforms. Provide guidance on effective communication and relationship-building in professional settings.
Experiencing a lack of motivation to engage with coursework or attend classes.	The mentor plays a crucial role in helping the student identify personal goals and interests. By discussing aspirations and potential career paths, the mentor can assist in establishing short-term, achievable goals. Regular mentor-student meetings provide a platform for celebrating successes and addressing any motivational hurdles.
Difficulty expressing thoughts, concerns, or questions to professors or peers.	The mentor can conduct role-playing exercises, helping the student practice effective communication skills. Offering feedback on written communication, such as emails or messages to professors, contributes to the student's development. The mentor creates a safe space for the student to express concerns and works collaboratively to improve communication.
Struggling with financial issues that impact the ability to focus on academics.	The mentor actively connects the student with financial aid resources, provides guidance on creating a budget, and explores potential job opportunities on campus. Regular check-ins allow the mentor to offer ongoing support and reassurance during challenging financial situations, reinforcing the importance of financial literacy.

Issues raised	Suggestions forwarded
Dealing with physical or mental health issues that affect academic performance.	The mentor facilitates discussions about prioritizing health, suggesting visits to the campus health center and assisting in communicating with professors about health-related challenges. They actively engage in exploring accommodations and connect the student with campus resources, ensuring ongoing support for their well-being.
Difficulty expressing thoughts, concerns, or questions to professors or peers.	The mentor can conduct role-playing exercises, helping the student practice effective communication skills. Offering feedback on written communication, such as emails or messages to professors, contributes to the student's development. The mentor creates a safe space for the student to express concerns and works collaboratively to improve communication.
Difficulty managing time effectively, leading to missed deadlines and overwhelming workloads.	Work collaboratively with the student to create a detailed weekly schedule, providing guidance on prioritizing tasks and setting realistic goals. The mentor can periodically check in with the student to review and adjust the schedule as needed, offering support and accountability.
Feeling uncertain about career paths or post-graduate plans.	The mentor actively engages in career exploration discussions, guiding the student to identify interests and connect with relevant resources. They assist in resume building, mock interviews, and navigating career services on campus. Regular mentorship meetings provide ongoing support as the student explores and solidifies their career path.

Many students struggle with effectively managing their time, leading to stress and incomplete assignments	I often recommend creating a schedule or a to-do list to prioritize tasks. Breaking larger tasks into smaller, more manageable parts can make it easier to stay on track. Additionally, using tools like calendars or productivity apps can help students stay organized.
Procrastination can hinder productivity and result in rushed work or missed deadlines	I often advise students to break tasks into smaller, more achievable goals, set deadlines for themselves, and eliminate distractions. Learning to recognize the reasons for procrastination and addressing them, such as fear of failure or lack of interest, can also be beneficial
Some students may find certain subjects challenging, making it difficult to grasp course material	I recommend seeking help early on. Attend office hours, form study groups, or utilize tutoring services. Taking the initiative to ask questions and engage with the material consistently can make a significant difference. Additionally, professors may suggest utilizing additional resources like textbooks, online tutorials, or educational videos
Anxiety before or during exams can negatively impact a student's performance	I often advise students to practice effective study habits, including regular review sessions and self-assessment. Developing relaxation techniques, such as deep breathing or mindfulness, can help manage test anxiety. Being well-prepared and organized can also boost confidence and reduce stress

Facing challenges with online learning platforms, software, or other technological tools.	The mentor directs the student to IT support services and assists in navigating technology workshops or tutorials. Offering troubleshooting guidance, the mentor ensures the student feels comfortable seeking help promptly, minimizing disruptions to their academic progress. Regular mentor-student communication addresses any ongoing technological challenges.
The student struggles with procrastination, delaying tasks until the last minute and experiencing increased stress as a result.	As a mentor, you play a pivotal role in helping the student overcome procrastination. Start by having an open conversation to understand the reasons behind their procrastination. Share your own experiences and strategies for effective time management. Together, create a personalized plan that includes breaking tasks into smaller, more manageable steps, setting realistic deadlines, and implementing a reward system for completing tasks on time.
The student experiences anxiety before and during exams, negatively impacting their performance and overall well-being.	Mentor the student in coping strategies for test anxiety. Discuss relaxation techniques, time management during exams, and the importance of thorough preparation.

Navigating difficulties in personal relationships that impact emotional well-being.	The mentor creates a supportive environment for the student to discuss personal relationship challenges, offering guidance on maintaining a healthy balance. By sharing personal experiences or providing relevant resources, the mentor helps the student navigate interpersonal conflicts. Regular mentor-student meetings foster trust and open communication.
Experiencing burnout due to a heavy workload or extracurricular commitments.	The mentor collaborates with the student to develop strategies for preventing burnout, emphasizing the importance of self-care and boundary-setting. Regular check-ins allow the mentor to monitor workload and provide encouragement, helping the student reassess commitments and delegate tasks when necessary.
Difficulty expressing thoughts, concerns, or questions to professors or peers.	The mentor can conduct role-playing exercises, helping the student practice effective communication skills. Offering feedback on written communication, such as emails or messages to professors, contributes to the student's development. The mentor creates a safe space for the student to express concerns and works collaboratively to improve communication.

Struggling with financial issues that impact the ability to focus on academics.

The mentor actively connects the student with financial aid resources, provides guidance on creating a budget, and explores potential job opportunities on campus. Regular check-ins allow the mentor to offer ongoing support and reassurance during challenging financial situations, reinforcing the importance of financial literacy.

Many students struggle with the high costs of tuition, textbooks, housing, and other expenses.	Increase awareness of available scholarships, grants, and financial aid options. Explore opportunities for part-time work or internships on campus.
Students may feel overwhelmed by the volume of coursework, exams, and the pressure to maintain high grades.	Provide academic support services, such as tutoring and study skills workshops. Encourage faculty to be approachable and available for student consultations.
Balancing academics, work, and social life can be challenging for students.	Encourage time management and organizational skills through workshops.
Some students may feel unprepared for the job market or lack guidance in choosing a career path.	Offer career counseling services and workshops on resume building and job interviews. Facilitate networking events, internships, and career fairs.

Sr No.	Issues Raised	Issues Resolved
1	How can I complain for bullying to us by my classmate?	We have anti-ragging cell for this type of misbehavior of student, you can also talk to your class coordinator.
2	How to handle pre-exam burden?	To solve this problem you have to complete your class work with meditation and stay relaxed.
3	Some of my friends having bad habits like smoking etc. How can we help them?	Firstly they need to talk to their family and take to rehabilitation hospital for addiction.
4	Some students are come from far areas so they were not able to attend full classes.	They can stay at hostel or ask for time relaxation.
5	How to stay away from social media/ game addiction?	Students have to manage their phone operating time and set timer for all social media sites, so slowly they can get rid of that.

1.	Mentors may not be adequately trained to fulfill their roles.	Provide comprehensive training programs for mentors, covering effective communication, goal setting, and addressing common challenges.
2	Problems with the English language.	Communicated with mentees about their problems through online mode, though I was able to conduct a few group meetings physically, after taking all precautionary measures
3	Some mentees frequently missed their classes due to network issue.	Care was taken through telephonic conversation so that the students not have mental stress due to online classes, evaluation and assignments.
4	Minor issues were faced by few mentees during stay in the campus	Issues were resolved by regular meetings and proper discussions. Some mentees staying away from campus they were contacted through telephonic and virtual meetings

Sr No.	Issues Raised	Suggestions Forwarded
1.	Mental health issues, including anxiety and depression, are on the rise among college students, often exacerbated by academic pressure and life transitions.	Colleges should prioritize mental health by offering counseling services, creating awareness campaigns, and establishing a supportive campus environment. Reducing stigma around seeking mental health support is crucial, and colleges can actively promote well-being through various activities and resources.
2	Counselling needed for two of International Students	Students were given online counselling both by using Google Meets and over WhatsApp.
3	Difficulties in adjusting to the online mode of teaching learning due to accessibility and network issues	Encouraged to stay in contact with the respective course instructors and request them to provide pre-recorded materials

1	Students often face uncertainty about their future careers, leading to stress and anxiety about job prospects post-graduation.	Colleges can provide career counseling services, internship opportunities, and workshops on resume building and job searching. Establishing strong alumni networks can also help students connect with professionals in their field of interest.
2	Some students may struggle with social isolation, especially in large or unfamiliar campus environments	Colleges can facilitate social integration through orientation programs, clubs, and extracurricular activities. Promoting a sense of community in residence halls and classrooms helps students build connections and combat feelings of loneliness.

Issue raised	Issue resolved
health issue affecting students (Food-poisoning)	Suggested to take several measures thorough cleaning of all classrooms, common areas, and restrooms to ensure that they are free of germs and bacteria. Encouraged students to use hand sanitizers and wash their hands frequently. Encourage students who are feeling unwell to stay at home and seek medical attention.
Extra-class for achieving academic goals	Identified a specific class that my mentee was struggling with and decided to set up an extra class to help them catch up. Focused on reviewing the material covered in class, answering questions, and practicing problems. We also worked on developing effective study habits, such as taking notes, organizing their study materials, and managing their time effectively.

Problems of accessing study materials, Internet access and examination mode	Provided with e-materials and personal counselling as and when required.
Some students raised concern regarding the hostel food in some the hostel in the university.	The students were advised to meet the concerned hostel warden and place the issue in view of the warden. The mentor followed up the status and found that the same students were quite satisfied lately.

Body-shaming of obese student	Spoke with both students, advise to establish good communication and managing emotions and let go things and start new friendship. We researched the different forms of body shaming, including fat-shaming, skinny-shaming, and appearance-based discrimination. We created social media campaigns to spread awareness about body shaming and encourage people to embrace their bodies.
health issue affecting students (Food-poisoning)	Suggested to take several measures thorough cleaning of all classrooms, common areas, and restrooms to ensure that they are free of germs and bacteria. Encouraged students to use hand sanitizers and wash their hands frequently. Encourage students who are feeling unwell to stay at home and seek medical attention.
Cleanliness of toilet	Spoke to students and raised the issue. Explained about menstrual hygiene and cleanliness and sanitary pad usage and discard. We discussed some tips for keeping a toilet clean, such as using a toilet brush to scrub the bowl regularly, wiping down the seat and lid with disinfectant wipes, and using a toilet cleaner to keep the inside of the bowl clean and fresh. We also talked about the importance of properly disposing of waste and keeping the area around the toilet clean and tidy. This can help to prevent odors and make the toilet more pleasant to use.
issue of homesickness among students who are living in hostels	Proposed creating a peer support system where older students who have experienced homesickness in the past can mentor younger students and offer guidance and support. Demonstrated their empathy and understanding of the challenges faced by hostalized students. Emphasizing the importance of creating a safe and supportive environment for all students. Encouraged them to continue advocating for the needs of hostalized students and to work with college administrators to implement effective solutions.

Issue raised	Issue resolved
lack of awareness regarding extracurricular activities	Spoke with students and gave details of extra-curricular activities. And importance of taking participation in internal examination. Proposed seeking advice from peers and faculty members, attending club fairs and events, and utilizing online resources to learn more about available options. Suggested seeking support from academic advisors and time management workshops to help them prioritize and manage their schedule effectively.
issue of homesickness among students who are living in hostels	Suggested to provide more support and resources for hostalized students. Proposed creating a peer support system where older students who have experienced homesickness in the past can mentor younger students and offer guidance and support. Emphasizing the importance of creating a safe and supportive environment for all students. Encouraged them to continue advocating for the needs of hostalized students and to work with college administrators to implement effective solutions.
Projector is not working	Spoke with technician and try to find out the solution. Suggested using handouts or writing the information on the whiteboard as a backup plan. Also demonstrated problem-solving skills and proactivity in finding solutions to unexpected challenges.
Extra-class for achieving academic goals	Identified a specific class that my mentee was struggling with and decided to set up an extra class to help them catch up. Focused on reviewing the material covered in class, answering questions, and practicing problems. We also worked on developing effective study habits, such as taking notes, organizing their study materials, and managing their time effectively.

issue of water deficiency in toilets	We discussed some possible solutions to this issue, including using composting toilets or installing dual-flush toilets that allow for different amounts of water to be used depending on the type of waste.

Issue raised	Issue resolved
issue of excessive use of electricity	Discussed some tips for reducing electricity usage, such as turning off lights and electronics when not in use, using energy-efficient light bulbs, and unplugging chargers and appliances when they are not being used. We also talked about the benefits of using natural light and ventilation instead of relying on artificial lighting and air conditioning. This can not only save energy but also improve the overall health and well-being of individuals.
health issue affecting students (Food-poisoning)	Suggested to take several measures thorough cleaning of all classrooms, common areas, and restrooms to ensure that they are free of germs and bacteria. Encouraged students to use hand sanitizers and wash their hands frequently. Encourage students who are feeling unwell to stay at home and seek medical attention.
Ongoing fighting between roommates	Spoke with both students, advise to establish good communication and managing emotions. Demonstrated a willingness to take responsibility for their role in the conflict and seek solutions to improve the living situation.

Sr. No	Problem	Solution
1	Various Distractions for Student: Drugs, Drinking, and Smoking and and SEX	It is enough to overcome Sex distraction from study Some medical conditions like hormonal changes during student life cause frequent mood changes and cause loss of attention doing something. Try to manage this with interacting with more people so that you can divert your mind and sometimes get important advice to deal with this situation. Play games as it will divert your energy towards a healthy lifestyle and it will make you mentally fit too.
2	Financial issues in college life	to save money by cutting down expenses and needs.

Sr. No	Problem	Solution
1	Lack of proper education and career guidance	Step 1. Talk to yourself first as to decide your interest to continue with the studies using some conventional method or going to do some professional or some unique course which does not opt by many. Step 2. Once you have decided the subject stream next is to do some brainstorming and rigorous research on that as its going to be last with your profession. Step 3. Talk to subject experts, teachers, family, consult with your seniors and friends to find the prospect of the subject you have decided to continue your studies.
2	Student life relationship problems	in such situations try to be bit rational and check if these relations are not hurting your studies. prefers to stay with those people who are like minded, who they have same hobbies and interests but that habit constraint you from understanding the other wide lot of people.
