Event Report

An Awareness Program on the Code of Conduct held at Gokul Global University on August 1, 2023. The event aimed to inform students, faculty, and staff about the university's ethical and behavioural standards, fostering integrity, professionalism, respect, and responsibility in line with the university's core values.

The program focused on key objectives such as understanding the Code of Conduct, emphasizing academic integrity, promoting respect, equality, professionalism, and outlining responsibilities and disciplinary measures for violations.

Dean of the Gokul science college, Dr. Ritesh Vaidya highlighted the importance of upholding ethical standards, while Dr. Kishor Patel described the Code of Conduct as a guiding framework for a harmonious learning environment. Key topics discussed included discrimination (physical or verbal conduct) based on an individual's gender, caste, race, religion or religious beliefs, colour, region, language, disability, or sexual orientation, marital or family status, physical or mental disability, gender identity, etc.

An interactive session allowed participants to raise concerns and clarify ethical dilemmas. Overall, the program effectively reinforced the university's commitment to fostering a positive, inclusive, and ethical campus culture.

Event Report

1. Introduction

Hansaba college of Engineering and Technology strives to uphold high ethical standards and professionalism. To reinforce these values, the department organizes an Annual Awareness Program on the Code of Conduct for students. This initiative aims to ensure that students are well-versed in the code of conduct governing their behavior, both academically and socially, in alignment with the institution's guidelines and professional expectations.

This report outlines the key components of the annual program, its objectives, methods of delivery, participation, and its impact on students.

2. Objectives of the Awareness Program

The Annual Awareness Program on the Code of Conduct aims to:

- Promote ethical behavior and integrity among students.
- Reinforce the importance of adhering to institutional rules and regulations.
- Educate students about professional ethics and their responsibilities as future engineers.
- Provide clarity on academic honesty, including rules related to plagiarism, cheating, and other forms of misconduct.
- Encourage a culture of respect, collaboration, and responsible behavior within the department.

3. Program Structure

The awareness program is structured as follows:

- Opening Session: The opening session introduces students to the program's agenda, and the importance of the code of conduct in academic and professional settings is highlighted. The Head of the Department and senior faculty members typically address the students, emphasizing the significance of ethical behavior.
- Keynote Lectures: Experts from academia and industry are invited to deliver keynote speeches. These speakers focus on topics such as professional ethics, corporate responsibility, and the long-term implications of following or violating ethical standards in engineering practice.
- Workshops and Interactive Sessions: Hands-on workshops and interactive discussions are conducted where students actively engage in case studies on real-life ethical dilemmas faced by engineers. These sessions focus on building decision-making skills when confronted with ethical challenges.
- Discussion on Academic Integrity: This session focuses on educating students about the university's policies on plagiarism, cheating, and other forms of academic dishonesty. Students are made aware of the consequences of such misconduct and the importance of upholding academic integrity.
- Panel Discussion: A panel of faculty members, student representatives, and industry experts holds a discussion on the importance of maintaining professional decorum both within the university and in industrial settings. Students have the opportunity to ask questions and seek clarification on various aspects of the code of conduct.
- Assessment and Feedback: At the end of the program, students participate in a quiz or assessment that evaluates their understanding of the code of conduct. Additionally, feedback is collected from the participants to improve future awareness programs.

4. Participation

The program is mandatory for engineering students, from first-year to final-year students. Faculty members also actively participate, fostering an environment of mutual respect and shared responsibility in upholding the code of conduct.

5. Key Areas Covered

The key areas covered during the program include:

- Professional Conduct: Emphasizing punctuality, discipline, and respect for peers and faculty.
- Academic Integrity: Understanding the consequences of cheating, plagiarism, and unauthorized collaborations.
- Use of Laboratory Equipment: Ensuring students follow safety guidelines and ethical practices when working in mechanical labs.
- Respect for Diversity: Promoting inclusivity and respectful behavior toward all students, regardless of background.
- Responsible Use of Technology: Highlighting the importance of using technological resources responsibly and ethically.

6. Outcomes and Impact

The awareness program has shown significant positive outcomes:

- Increased Awareness: Students display a greater understanding of the institution's code of conduct, particularly concerning academic integrity and professional ethics.
- Reduction in Misconduct: A noticeable decline in cases of plagiarism and cheating has been observed over the past year.
- Enhanced Professionalism: Students demonstrate more professional behavior during internships, industrial visits, and academic projects, as evidenced by feedback from industry partners.
- Collaborative Environment: The program fosters a collaborative and respectful environment within the department, enhancing peer relationships and faculty-student interactions.

7. Challenges and Recommendations

While the program has been successful, a few challenges were identified:

- Student Engagement: Some students find it difficult to engage with the content, particularly those in the early years of study. More interactive and relatable case studies could improve engagement.
- Continuity: One-time annual sessions may not be sufficient to sustain ethical awareness. It is recommended that regular follow-up sessions or refresher courses be introduced throughout the academic year.

8. Conclusion

The Annual Awareness Program on the Code of Conduct for Mechanical Engineering students plays a crucial role in shaping the ethical and professional behavior of future engineers. By continuously evolving the program and addressing challenges, the Mechanical Engineering Department ensures that students are well-prepared to meet the ethical demands of their profession.
